

ROOSEVELT MAY "CRACK" WHIP OVER CONGRESS

LEADERS CALLED TO WHITE HOUSE FOR CONFERENCE

Learns Congress Has Been Laying Down On Job

By Cecil B. Dicks
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, April 9.—(AP)—Sun and ending President Roosevelt returned to the White House today to begin immediately the task of restoring order in his legislative program.

Hardly were first greetings over before he called Senator Robinson (D-Ark.), the senate leader, for a report on conditions and arranged for a night conference with house leaders on the social security bill.

Aide from the enactment of the $4,880,000 work relief bill, Mr. Roosevelt was told there had been little legislative progress. The emergency and delay manifest all session remain and leaders indicate they believe a bit of presidential whip cracking might go further just now than gentle persuasion.

Added to accumulated problems was the administration of the work relief bill. Mr. Roosevelt let it be known that he would hold a series of conferences before deciding the make-up of the board which is to carry out under the president's direction—the task of transferring some 3,500,000 men from the dole to work relief.

In the flurry of activity that followed his arrival from his Florida fishing jaunt, the president signed the army appropriation bill which authorized an increase of 45,000 men in army strength.

Earl Stark Is Sentenced To Penitentiary

Pleads Guilty Charge Of Manslaughter In Torture Slaying

Newton, Ill., April 9.—(AP)—Earl Stark was sentenced to serve from one to 14 years in prison today after his plea of guilty to a manslaughter charge in connection with the torture death of Mrs. Mary Schrader, 82 year old widow, in August, 1932.

Harry Shelby and his nephew, John Allen, Danville, Ill., were executed at Southern Illinois penitentiary December 22, 1933, after being convicted of murdering Mrs. Schrader.

Stark was charged with murder, but the charge reduced to manslaughter when he said he would plead guilty.

Mrs. Schrader died the day after the farm home where she lived with her daughter, Miss Ann Schrader, 47, and brother, Bernard Weidman, 44, was invaded by three men looking for money they believed hidden there. The robbers tortured the woman and man by burning the soles of their feet with lighted matches in the hope the hiding place would be revealed.

College Students To Be Examined On First Grade Work

Chicago, April 9.—(AP)—The college student of tomorrow may have to go back to the first grade before he gets his diploma. B. L. Stradley of Ohio State University said today in opening the annual meeting of the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges, of which he is president.

Too many of the present-day crop of students, their memories dim, can't spell, write grammatically, or do simple arithmetic, so examinations in early fundamentals will be mandatory," he declared.

WILL CUT OFF TWO PERSONS HEADS TODAY

Charged With Murder Of Nazi Germany's Hero, Wessel

Berlin, April 10.—(Wednesday)—(AP)—The heads of Sally Epstein, a Jew, and Erich Ziegler, 26-year-old Aryan, will be cut off at dawn, it was stated on reliable authority early today, for complicity in the murder of Nazi Germany's hero, Horst Wessel, five years ago.

They are to be executed on the chopping block by August Goebler, it was stated. He is the executioner who put to death two women, Baroness Benita von Falkenhausen, also known as Benita von Berg, and Renate von Natzen, for revealing military secrets to the Polish spy, Baron George von Soosnowski.

The executions are to be carried out in the same courtyard within the walls of Plötzensee prison in Berlin.

Epstein, it was reported, will be the first Jew beheaded in German judicial history. He and the youthful Ziegler both communists, were accused of being accessories in the political murder of Horst Wessel, the man whose name the official Nazi song carries, in 1930.

Epstein and Ziegler were finally condemned to death after the whole case had been brought to court for re-hearing last June.

The chief suspects, named Domrowski and Junk, escaped from Germany, allegedly to Russia, after they had served short jail terms in Plötzensee prison. They had been sentenced in the earlier trial.

Police Start Anew Search For Lost Boy

31,000 War Veterans Are Called To Aid In Hunt For Missing Youth

Chicago, April 9.—(AP)—Police started anew tonight in their search for four-year-old Richard Perrot, missing since last Thursday, as a former inmate of an insane asylum was exonerated.

Joseph Bothe, 45, in custody since last night after witnesses said he resembled the "thin man" with whom Richard was last seen, was found to have a complete alibi during the hours Richard was supposedly abducted by a moron.

Witnesses today said they were certain he was not the man who purchased candy for the boy in two stores late Thursday afternoon. Police turned Bothe over to the psychiatric hospital and his wife requested his recrimination.

Matt Murphy, Cook county commander of the American Legion, today called on the 31,000 war veterans to cooperate with police in the search. Legion officials conferred with police on plans for a house-to-house search of the district in which the missing child lived.

Scout executives today ordered all Chicago boy scouts to be on the watch for the Perrot boy or the "thin man" sought as his kidnaper. The scouts were expected to be of value in combing several city parks for some trace of the child.

FILE TWO SUITS IN CIRCUIT COURT

Two suits were filed in circuit court Tuesday. Marie Tholen is plaintiff in a suit appealed from justice court by the defendant, Raymond Chester. The plaintiff was awarded $74.29 in justice court.

Ray L. Hayes filed a petition for writ of mandamus against W. A. Wainwright, mayor. Hayes brought suit to secure warrant of $60 for services as patrolman of the city.

HEAVY DAMAGE IS CAUSED BY STORMS, FLOODS

Eastern Seaboard Is Badly Battered By Northeaster

(By The Associated Press)
Extensive damage was recorded yesterday (Tuesday) as the elements cracked down on various sections of the nation.

A northeaster battered the eastern seaboard, floods plagued California and threatened the deep Mississippi Valley. Dust storms raged through the southwest.

Many vessels were caught in a furious blow on the north Atlantic. Summer homes along the Long Island and Jersey coasts were jeopardized by pounding seas. Steel and chilling rains swept in with the winds.

Silt clouds rolling across western Kansas and northwestern Oklahoma cut visibility to 100 yards and forced many highway travelers to forego their journeys. Dust also spread over parts of the Texas panhandle. Some hope for relief was raised, however, by weather bureau predictions of general precipitation over the north central states. Nebraskan prayers were partially answered by light snow, sleet and showers although the rains passed the most arid portions of the state and proved insufficient in other sections.

California counted more than a dozen flood dead in the wake of record-smashing rains. The protracted storm also had a tragic corollary in the deaths of ten section hands who were killed by a gravel train near Roosevelt while en route to repair a railroad line. Homes, farms, stores, crops, highways and railways were damaged, especially in the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys. Rising waters drove 100 persons from river bottom camps at Marysville and put others to flight in other districts. From three to five feet of water surged into the mercantile business section. Scores of automobiles were stalled. Boat wrecks and persons were pressed into rescue service.

Whiskey Makers Can Increase Their Capacity

Administration To Relax Attempts To Control Production

By E. B. Haakinson.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, April 9.—(AP)—Complaints of a "whiskey trust" and profits from states which joined repeal ranks late today caused the federal alcohol control administration to relax attempts to control liquor production.

Suddenly reversing its policy of attempting to limit liquor making to estimated production, FACA with President Roosevelt approval, amended the distilled spirits code to allow present permit holders to increase the capacity of their plants.

The modifications also provide for new permits to plants with a capacity of 1,000 gallons or more a day. FACA said the former regulations, solely brandy or certain special types of distilled spirits.

The changes in the code, established under the recovery act, followed a conference with stillers at which production restriction was sharply criticized.

States which repealed prohibition after FACA assumed control 16 months ago said limitation on output was particularly unfair to them.

Chairman Joseph H. Coudert, Jr., of FACA said the former regulations "operated unfairly by preventing citizens of states which have recently become wet from entering the industry."

Witnesses today said they were certain he was not the man who purchased candy for the boy in two stores late Thursday afternoon. Police turned Bothe over to the psychiatric hospital and his wife requested his recrimination.

Claims Penalty Should Fit Man And Not Crime

Chicago, April 9.—(AP)—The penalty should fit the man, not the crime, Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher declared today in explaining individualized punishment as the keynote of the proposed new state criminal code. Agent of the Illinois Bar Association committee in drawing up the proposed code, said:

"The theory of making the punishment fit the crime is obsolete. The punishment should fit the man."

The planned code, he added, proposes abolition of the grand jury.

THREE SLAYERS ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE CHAIR

Their Petitions Are Being Considered By Pardon Board

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—(AP)—The state pardon board today took under advisement the petitions of three convicted murderers who seek to escape from the electric chair through executive clemency.

They are Fred Blunk, Whiteside county farmer, and Fred Gerner and Arthur Thielen of Rockford, bank robbers.

The case of Mrs. Gertrude Puhse, who may be the first Illinois woman to be electrocuted, and Thomas J. Lehne of Granite City was postponed until Thursday, when the pardon board will hear their appeals.

Attaches of the board said it was the first time they could remember that five death sentences were being appealed at the same time.

Gerner and Thielen are scheduled to be hanged for the murder of Charles Bundy, cashier of the Levee State bank, one of four persons killed in a robbery attempt January 16. Their attorneys asked for a stay of execution to permit an appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court.

Blunk, who killed five persons with a shotgun last September, was described as meriting clemency on the ground that his mind was deranged at the time. His death is set for April 16.

The pardon board will refer cases to Governor Horner for a final decision.

Mrs. Puhse and Lehne, sentenced to die Good Friday for the slaying of the woman's husband, had their hearing postponed for two days. The Supreme Court today refused to rehear Mrs. Puhse's conviction.

Clemency for Lawrence Clome, serving a life sentence at Joliet for a murder committed in Mason county was asked by his brother, Michael Clome. He declared that evidence was shown at the trial in 1919 that his brother did not participate in the actual killing, and that he deserved to be paroled after serving 16 years in prison.

Freighter Wins Battle With Sea

New York, April 9.—(AP)—The storm-lashed freighter tower bridge tonight apparently had won her fight against pounding seas and was expected to reach St. John's Newfoundland, by tomorrow noon.

Wireless messages from the vessel, which earlier had flashed distress signals and reported one hold filling rapidly, said she was not in need of immediate assistance. The ship has 32 men aboard.

The liner Newfoundland, which rushed to the freighter's assistance in response to her S O S, was asked to stand by in event the leaking vessel's pumps were unable to control the inflow of water.

Mussolini Ready to Listen To Any Proposal For Joint Action To Curb Aggressors

By A. E. Stank.
Stresa, Italy, April 9.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini comes to Stresa tomorrow, authoritative quarters said tonight, ready to listen to any proposal for joint Italy-France-British action to curb an aggressor.

While the strict silence of Italian government officials and the press concerning the Fascist program tended to make the Fascist leader the "dark horse" of the conference, it was known he was anxious to learn what England and France are prepared to do in the event of an unexpected move by Germany.

The blank of silence fell on Italian newspapers early this morning, and high sources said the Premier himself had given instructions that he not be committed in advance of Stresa.

WILL FORBID PROFITEERING IN WAR-TIME

Youthful Independents Win Victory In House

By Richard L. Turner
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, April 9.—(AP)—A bill to forbid war-time profiteering, strengthened and invigorated through the persistent efforts of a bloc of youthful independents, today received the overwhelming approval of the house.

Successful in forcing leaders to include a potentially severe excess profits tax, the young progressives, just before passage, rallied their forces again and struck out the measure's authorization for a conscripted army.

While the bill as it now stands would prohibit the president from ordering a draft, it could not prevent a wartime congress from enacting a conscription law.

Shortly after the house had acted, new measures aimed at curbing causes of war were introduced in the senate. They were contained in resolutions authorizing the president to restrict the issuance of passports to nationals seeking to enter war zones and clamping restrictions on loans by citizens of this country to belligerent nations.

The resolutions were introduced by Nye (R-ND) and Clark (D-Mo.), respectively chairman and members of the munitions committee.

The war-profits measure was sent by the house to the senate, where the members of the munitions committee, unnerved by war department objections prepared for an effort to write in its own virtually confiscatory war-taxes, limiting industrial profits to three per cent of investment.

Senate Custom Will Be Broken By Jack Garner

Will Appoint Conferees Who Are Favorable To Pending Legislation

Washington, April 9.—(AP)—"Cactus Jack" Garner, self-effacing vice president, arose from still-smouldering flaps over the war-relief fight today to stage a one-man rebellion against an immemorial senate custom.

Without warning, Garner announced suddenly that hereafter he would "exercise discretion" in naming senators to conference committees to the extent of seeing to it they were generally representative of the senate's views on the legislation going to conference.

These conference committees are the important groups which, joining with similar house managers, mold bills into final statutory form.

The startled senators foresaw two immediate results of the vice-president's declaration: Garner playing a more direct part in the administration's legislative program and departure from the ancient habit by which presiding officers automatically designated conferees chosen by the chairman of the committee which handled the bill in question.

The Texan's announcement was an echo of the recent conference dispute over the $4,880,000 relief bill, in which Senator Robinson, democratic leader, asserted that four of the senate conferees were "enemies" of the bill.

PASS PENSION BILL
Jefferson City, Mo., April 9.—(AP)—The senate old age pension bill, which provides $30 a month for indigent persons 70 years of age and older, was unanimously passed by the house of representatives this afternoon.

The bill now goes back to the senate for concurrence in amendments.

Flaminio of France, with their foreign ministers, Sir John Simon and Pierre Laval.

The British, advised from London said, will urge continuance of efforts to devise an all-inclusive security system, while the French are reported bringing plans to sharpen the teeth of the League of Nations with military pacts providing for "automatic" punishment of an aggressor.

This dire resort town, brilliantly lighted by searchlights revolving on Isola Bella Island in Lake Maggiore where the conference will be held, was swarming with plainclothesmen snatching about the streets to gaze inquisitively at all they passed.

Also symbolizing Mussolini's determination that no harm come to his visitors were the groups of Fascist Carabinieri in glittering uniforms.

Railroads and roads were guarded for miles outside the town, and visitors were required to show who they were and why they were in Stresa by detailed documentary evidence. Passports were collected on their possessors' arrival, and carefully scrutinized.

HORNER-KELLY RELIEF FINANCING PROGRAM CLEARS ALL HURDLES

STOCKHOLDERS ATTACK SCHWAB, GRACE AT MEET

Proposal To Slash Their Salaries Is Voted Down

J. Newman Wright
Associated Press Staff Writer
Newark, N. J., April 9.—(AP)—High officials of the Bethlehem Steel corporation whose salaries last year were nearly as much as the corporation's net profits were attacked at a stockholders meeting today, but a proposal to slash the payments was voted down.

The move to cut the salaries came after a minor stockholder had criticized especially the salary of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board, declaring "there comes a time when a man outlives his usefulness."

The criticism of Schwab and others was an echo of legal efforts in recent years first to restrict the size of bonuses paid the officers and later to force them to return some of the money thus awarded.

The outburst against Schwab, president Eugene G. Grace, and vice-president and secretary R. E. McMath developed unexpectedly at the 30th annual meeting of stockholders, at which five directors were re-elected. They were C. Austin Buck, O. G. Jennings, William C. Potter Schwab and James H. Ward.

A few minutes before the onset Grace told the stockholders the concern, which lost $20,000,000 in 1932 and $6,000,000 in 1933, made a profit of about $550,000 in 1934.

Declaring that "44,000 men got 67 cents an hour by the sweat of their brows while three officers of this corporation divided $448,000 in salaries last year," Leopold B. Coshland, New York, said:

"I don't feel, just or honorable, and if I were Mr. Grace I would hide my face in shame. Such things make a man's blood boil."

He added that in the event of another war Schwab "would not stop for a moment to increase his profits through blood and war."

Mrs. Mary C. Gallagher, a widow of New York, said:

"No wonder Father Coughlin presumes about blood money. He knows what he is talking about. There is too much of this. Here we are without a cent, while you men store up millions. x x x."

Police Squads Raid Chicago Gambling Dens

Patrons Are Chased Out But Operators Are Held And Equipment Smashed

Chicago, April 9.—(AP)—Police squads swung axes and sledge hammers today as they made wholesale raids against "bookies" and gambling houses under orders from Supervisor Capt. Dan Gilbert to "clamp the lid on light and keep it there."

Patrons were chased out, but the operators were held. Equipment was smashed. It was understood that the drive was connected with the investigation of the attempted assassination of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney several weeks ago.

Shortly after Mayor Edward J. Kelly was elected a week ago Gilbert, then in charge of the state's attorney's investigators, was made second in charge of the Chicago force pledged by the mayor and Courtney to stamp out all crime.

Gilbert also gave orders that police captains in the various districts would be held responsible personally for any taverns that operated after legal closing hours.

Firemarshal Has Real Experience In Fire Drills

New York, April 9.—(AP)—A deputy fire marshal gave a timely lecture today on fire drills and fire prevention. While he was speaking to a group of teachers at Public School 119 on West 133rd street, a blaze was discovered on the second floor of the building.

The teachers, sole occupants of the building, left the fourth floor promptly and orderly just as the deputy marshal had suggested. The fire was quickly extinguished.

STUDY DETAILS OF BIG MONEY SPENDING JOB

President Roosevelt Has Arranged For Conferences

By W. B. Ransdale.
Washington, April 9.—(AP)—A series of conferences to decide details of the biggest money spending job in peace time history was arranged today by President Roosevelt almost immediately after his return to the capital.

Four or five definite proposals for the administrative set-up to handle the $4,880,000,000 work relief spending were before Mr. Roosevelt. His aides said, however, that he probably would hold a dozen parleys before he approved a specific plan sometime within the next week or ten days.

Those who will participate in the discussions were not named, but informed sources said they probably would be officials who will help in carrying out details of the program, and possibly legislative advisors.

They added that a board of at least a half dozen men, perhaps more, would be set up to handle the allotments. They said Mr. Roosevelt planned to preside over this board as not only the titular but the active chairman.

From other quarters came the definite and authoritative information that three members of the board who have been definitely decided upon are Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator; Harold L. Ickes, the public works administrator; and Rexford G. Tugwell, the undersecretary of agriculture.

Other likely members suggested were Rear Admiral Christian J. Peopie of the treasury procurement office and Robert Fechner, head of the civilian conservation corps.

It was pointed out, however, that these two selections were not yet definite.

The giant work program, designed to put out fires where none grew before, set rivers to flowing in new channels and all but move mountains to give work to 3,500,000 men awaited only the final approval by Mr. Roosevelt of the method to be followed in carrying it out.

Hoists of projects already are waiting in government departments.

Cannot Identify Three Suspects

Chicago, April 9.—(AP)—Two witnesses today failed to identify three men held for investigation concerning the $20,000 robbery of the W. A. Sheffield Pen Company, St. Madison, Ind., last Oct. 27, but police continued to hold them in efforts to learn if they were wanted elsewhere.

Detained were Albert Lewis, 28, Jack Rothbaum, 33, and Charles Bondan, 36, all of Chicago. They were apprehended, local officials said, after information from Police Chief John Thiesen of St. Madison was received.

Despite the fact they were not identified, police said they intended to hold the pair until an officer, already en route to Springfield in efforts to obtain extradition papers, returned.

WOULD APPLY FOR U. S. RELIEF FUNDS

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—(AP)—The House today adopted a joint resolution by Rep. Bernice T. Van Der Vries, Winnetka republican, asking Governor Horner to apply for school relief funds from the $4,880,000,000 federal work relief appropriation.

Mrs. Van Der Vries said the federal law includes a $300,000,000 item for educational purposes and recommended that part of it be used in financing the public school districts of Illinois, which have asked the legislature for increased state aid.

If obtained, the money should be appropriated by the governor upon the recommendations of the Stull educational commission, the resolution said.

THREE PER CENT TAX PLACED ON RETAIL SALES

Big Test Will Come Today In Both Branches

By Milburn P. Akers
Associated Press Staff Writer
Springfield, Ill., April 9.—(AP)—The Horner-Kelly relief financing program for three per cent tax on sales by retailers and utilities cleared the amendment hurdle with little difficulty in both houses of the legislature today.

With the duplicate bills on third reading in both house and senate, democratic leaders faced their big test tomorrow when a two-thirds emergency majority will be required at the passage stage.

To get support from legislators who have demanded "reorganization" before refinancing "there were reports that the house would be permitted to pass the bill by Rep. Richard J. Lyons, Libertyville republican, providing that relief distribution shall be in the form of cash rather than grocery orders.

With no comment, the Lyons bill was advanced to third reading late today. Indications were that the administration would not oppose the bill and might support it to get additional votes for the tax increases.

By increasing the sales tax from two to three per cent and putting a similar tax on utilities, Governor Horner and Mayor Kelly of Chicago plan to raise $20,000,000 a year; toward the $36,000,000 cost of relief to the state government.

The utility tax bills in both houses were amended at the request of the operating companies to provide that the levy would not apply when electricity is sold for resale.

The day's action started in the house, where the bills are sponsored by F. W. Lewis, Robinson democratic. The sales tax increase was amended so that the higher rate would become effective April 15.

Hauptmann Opens His Fight On U. S. Tax Assessment

Decision In Case May Not Be Reached Until After His Execution

By Fred B. Marbat.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, April 9.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann today began a fight on a government income tax assessment which may not reach a decision until long after his execution for the Lindbergh baby's murder.

A petition filed jointly in his name and that of his wife, Anna, applied to the board of tax appeals for the redetermination of income tax claims, penalties and interest totaling $9,786 for 1932 and 1933.

The document was drafted by Attorney Frank B. Meske, (Chrysler building), New York.

The litigation may require two years for settlement. Hauptmann has been sentenced to death, with his appeal scheduled for hearing in June.

The name of Isidor Fisch, the tuncular German forner from whom Hauptmann claimed to have received the Lindbergh ransom money found in his possession, recurs repeatedly in the long petition.

JOHN J. LEACH, AGED CIVIL WAR VET, PASSES AWAY

John J. Leach, prominent resident of Chesterfield, passed away recently at his home in that city. Mr. Leach was a cousin of Charles F. Leach of Mount Road, and had often visited in the city.

The decedent was born at Chesterfield in 1842, the youngest son of Thomas and Sarah Leach. Thomas Leach came to this country in 1831 and settled on a farm in Morgan county, Illinois. In 1832 he moved to Chesterfield and purchased a farm on which his son, John J. Leach, resided for many years.

John J. Leach enlisted in Company D, 122nd Regiment, Illinois Volunteer Infantry, and continued in the service until August, 1868, when he received his discharge. His death moves the last survivor of Company D, 122nd Infantry, which was comprised mostly of residents of Macoupin county.

He had served as supervisor of Chesterfield township, was for 21 years township school treasurer and was one of the organizers of the Chesterfield State bank.

Curtis Crow of Franklin was a business visitor here yesterday.

ROOSEVELT MAY "CRACK" WHIP OVER CONGRESS

LEADERS CALLED TO WHITE HOUSE FOR CONFERENCE

Learns Congress Has Been Laying Down On Job

By Cecil B. Dicks, Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, April 9.—(P)—Sun and smiling, President Roosevelt returned to the White House today to begin immediately the task of restoring order in his legislative program.

Hardly were first greetings over before he called Senator Robinson (D-Ark.), the senate leader, for a report on conditions and arranged for a night conference with house leaders on the social security bill.

Aside from the enactment of the $4,880,000 work relief bill, Mr. Roosevelt was told there had been little legislative progress. The insurmountable delay manifest all session results and leaders indicate they believe a bit of presidential whip cracking might go further just now than gentle persuasion.

Added to accumulated problems was the administration of the work relief bill. Mr. Roosevelt let it be known that he would hold a series of conferences before deciding the make-up of the board which is to carry out—under the president's direction—the task of transferring some 3,500,000 men from the dole to work relief.

In the flurry of activity that followed his arrival from his Florida fishing jaunt, the president signed the army appropriation bill which authorized an increase of 46,000 men in army strength.

Earl Stark Is Sentenced To Penitentiary Pleads Guilty Charge Of Manslaughter In Torture Slaying

Newton, Ill., April 9.—(P)—Earl Stark was sentenced to serve from one to 14 years in prison today after his plea of guilty to a manslaughter charge in connection with the torture death of Mrs. Mary Schriber, 82 year old widow, in August, 1933.

Harry Shelly and his nephew, John Allen, Danville, Ill., were executed at Southern Illinois penitentiary December 22, 1933, after being convicted of murdering Mrs. Schriber.

Stark was charged with murder, but the charge reduced to manslaughter when he said he would plead guilty.

Mrs. Schriber died the day after the farm home where she lived with her daughter, Mrs. Ann Schriber, 47, and brother, Bernard Weidman, 84, was invaded by three men looking for money they believed hidden there.

The robbers tortured the women and man by burning the soles of their feet with lighted matches in the hope the hiding place would be revealed.

Police Start Anew Search For Lost Boy

31,000 War Veterans Are Called To Aid In Hunt For Missing Youth

Chicago, April 9.—(P)—Police started anew tonight in their search for four-year-old Richard Perrot, missing since last Thursday, as a former inmate of an insane asylum was exonerated.

Joseph Bothe, 45, in custody since last night after witnesses said he resembled the "thin man" with whom Richard was last seen, was found to have a complete alibi during the hours Richard was supposedly abducted by a moron.

Witnesses late today said they were certain he was not the man who purchased candy for the boy in two stores late Thursday afternoon. Police turned Bothe over to the psychiatric hospital and his wife requested his commitment.

Matt Murphy, Cook county commander of the American Legion, today called on the 31,000 war veterans to cooperate with police in the search. Legion officials conferred with police on plans for a house-to-house search of the district in which the missing child lived.

Scout executives today ordered all Chicago boy scouts to be on the watch for the Perrot boy or the "thin man" who was his kidnaper. The scouts were expected to be of value in combing several city parks for some trace of the child.

FILE TWO SUITS IN CIRCUIT COURT

Two suits were filed in circuit court Tuesday. Marie Tholen is plaintiff in a suit appealed from justice court by the defendant, Raymond Chester. The plaintiff was awarded $74.28 in justice court.

Ray L. Hayes filed a petition for writ of mandamus against W. A. Wainright, mayor. Hayes brought suit to secure warrant of $90 for services as patrolman of the city.

White Hall callers here Tuesday included C. H. Grimes.

Claims Penalty Should Fit Man And Not Crime

Chicago, April 9.—(P)—The penalty should fit the man, not the crime, Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher declared today in explaining "individualized punishments" as the keynote of the proposed new state criminal code. Agent of the Illinois Bar Association committee in drawing up the proposed code, said:

"The theory of making the punishment fit the crime is obsolete. The punishment should fit the man."

The planned code, he added, proposes abolition of the grand jury.

Their Petitions Are Being Considered By Pardon Board

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—(P)—The state pardon board today took under advisement the petitions of three convicted murderers who seek to escape from the electric chair through executive clemency.

They are Fred Blink, Whiteside county farmer, and Fred Gerner and Arthur Thielen of Rockford, bank robbers.

The case of Mrs. Gertrude Puhse, who may be the first Illinois woman to be electrocuted, and Thomas J. Lehne of Granite City was postponed until Thursday, when the pardon board will hear their appeals.

Attaches of the board said it was the first time they could remember that five death sentences were being appealed at the same time.

Gerner and Thielen are scheduled to die Thursday for the murder of Charles Bundy, cashier of the Leona State bank, one of four persons killed in a robbery attempt January 16. Their attorney asked for a stay of execution to permit an appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court.

Blink, who killed five persons with a shotgun last September, was described as meriting clemency on the ground that his mind was deranged at the time. His death is set for April 19.

The pardon board will refer the cases to Governor Horner for a final decision.

Mrs. Puhse and Lehne, sentenced to die Good Friday for the slaying of the woman's husband, had their hearing postponed for two days. The Supreme Court today refused to rehear Mrs. Puhse's conviction.

Clemency for Lawrence Clone, serving a life sentence at Joliet for a murder committed in Macon county was asked by his brother, Michael Clone. He declared that evidence was shown at the trial in 1919 that his brother did not participate in the actual killing, and that he deserved to be paroled after serving 16 years in prison.

Freighter Wins Battle With Sea

New York, April 9.—(P)—The storm-lashed freighter tower bridge tonight apparently had won her fight against pounding seas and was expected to reach St. John's Newfoundland, by tomorrow noon.

Wireless messages from the vessel, which earlier had flashed distress signals and reported one hold filling rapidly, said she was not in need of immediate assistance. The ship has 32 men aboard.

The liner Newfoundland, which rushed to the freighter's assistance in response to her S O S, was asked to stand by in event the leaking vessel's pumps were unable to control the inflow of water.

Mussolini Ready to Listen To Any Proposal For Joint Action to Curb Aggressors

By A. E. Stuniz

Stresa, Italy, April 9.—(P)—Benito Mussolini comes to Stresa tomorrow, authoritative quarters said tonight, ready to listen to any proposal for joint Italy-France-British action to curb an aggressor.

While the strict silence of Italian government officials and the press concerning Il Duce's program tended to make the Fascist leader the "dark horse" of the conference, it was known he was anxious to learn what England and France are prepared to do in the event of an unexpected move by Germany.

The blanket of silence fell on Italian newspapers early this morning, and high sources said the Premier himself had given instructions that he not be committed in advance of Stresa.

Mussolini, busy with last minute conferences at his Forli province retreat, will motor tomorrow to this gem-like little village perched on the shores of Lake Maggiore here.

He will meet Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier

Jury Will Hear Sales Tax Case

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—(P)—Harry B. Thale, who operates a home-killed meat market at Quincy, demanded a jury trial in county court today when he was charged with failing to file a sales tax return with the state finance department.

The only witness, called by the state, was Martin Mangan of the finance department who said the return had not been received but admitted on cross examination it might have been mislaid.

Defense attorney Mark Roberts said Thale, who has eleven children, lost money in three banks and couldn't pay the sales tax because he was unable to pass it on to his customers.

The case involved $65 in tax payments. It was said to have been the first sales tax violation charge brought to trial before a jury.

PASS TAX BILL

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—(P)—The Senate today passed and sent to the house the Boeke-Hickman bill providing that penalties for failure to pay personal property taxes shall be charged in July and September.

The tax penalty dates now are May 1 and August 1.

WILL FORBID PROFITEERING IN WAR-TIME

Youthful Independents Win Victory In House

By Richard L. Turner

Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, April 9.—(P)—A bill to forbid war-time profiteering, strengthened and invigorated through the persistent efforts of a bloc of youthful independents, today received the overwhelming approval of the house.

Successful in forcing leaders to include a potentially severe excess profits tax, the young progressives, just before passage, rallied their forces again and struck out the measure's authorization for a conscripted army.

While the bill as it now stands would prohibit the president from ordering a draft, it could not prevent a wartime congress from enacting a conscription law.

Shortly after the house had acted, new measures aimed at curbing causes of war were introduced in the senate. They were contained in resolutions authorizing the president to restrict the issuance of passports to nationals seeking to enter war zones and clamping restrictions on loans by citizens of this country to belligerent nations.

The resolutions were introduced by Nye (R-ND) and Clark (D-Mo), respectively chairman and members of the munitions committee.

The war-profits measure was sent by the house to the senate, where the members of the munitions committee, unmoved by war department objections prepared for an effort to write in its own virtually confiscatory war-taxes, limiting industrial profits to three per cent of investment.

Senate Custom Will Be Broken By Jack Garner

Washington, April 9.—(P)—"Cactus Jack" Garner, self-effacing vice president, arose from still-smouldering fires over the work-relief fight today to stage a one-man rebellion against an immemorial senate custom.

Without warning, Garner announced sudden that hereafter he would "exercise discretion" in naming senators to conference committees to the extent of seeing to it they were generally representative of the senate's views on the legislation going to conference.

These conference committees are the important groups which, joining with similar house managers, mold bills into final statutory form.

The startled senators foresaw two immediate results of the vice-president's declaration: Garner playing a more direct part in the administration's legislative program and departure from the ancient habit by which presiding officers automatically designated conferees chosen by the chairman of the committee which handled the bill in question.

The Texasian's announcement was an echo of the recent conference dispute over the $4,880,000 relief bill, in which Senator Robinson, democratic leader, asserted that four of the senate conferees were "enemies" of the bill.

PASS PENSION BILL

Jefferson City, Mo., April 9.—(P)—The Senate today age pension bill, which provides $30 a month for indigent persons 70 years of age and older, was unanimously passed by the house of representatives this afternoon.

The bill now goes back to the senate for concurrence in amendments.

Police Squads Raid Chicago Gambling Dens

Patrons Are Chased Out But Operators Are Held And Equipment Smashed

Chicago, April 9.—(P)—Police squads swung axes and sledge hammers today as they made wholesale raids against "bookies" and gambling houses under orders from Supervisor Capt. Dan Gilbert to "clamp the lid on tight and keep it there."

Patrons were chased out, but the operators were held. Equipment was smashed. It was understood that the drive was connected with the investigation of the attempted assassination of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney several weeks ago.

Shortly after Mayor Edward J. Kelly was elected a week ago Gilbert, then in charge of the state's attorney's investigators, was made second in charge of the Chicago force pledged by the mayor and Courtney to stamp out all crime.

Gilbert also gave orders that police captains in the various districts would be held responsible personally for any taverns that operated after legal closing hours.

KIWANIS CLUB TO OBSERVE LADIES NIGHT THIS EVENING

The local Kiwanis club will observe Ladies' Night with a dinner and program of entertainment this evening. More than 80 reservations have been received and it is expected that the attendance will pass one hundred. The dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock with a program following.

The program will include entertainment by Jimmie Davidson, who was master of ceremonies for the Louisville Lions. Mrs. D. L. Hardin and pupils and Louise Boring and pupils. At 8:45 o'clock the club members and guests will be entertained at the Fox-Ilinois theater by Max Tschauder, manager.

The committee in charge of the plans for tonight's program includes Hayden Walker, Lawrence Oxley, Sam Brenner and Claude Gustine.

Edward Newell of Virginia was calling on friends here Tuesday.

HORNER-KELLY RELIEF FINANCING PROGRAM CLEARS ALL HURDLES

STOCKHOLDERS ATTACK SCHWAB, GRACE AT MEET

Proposal To Slash Their Salaries Is Voted Down

J. Newman Wright

Associated Press Staff Writer

Newark, N. J., April 9.—(P)—High officials of the Bethlehem Steel corporation whose salaries last year were nearly as much as the corporation's net profits were attacked at a stockholders meeting today, but a proposal to slash the payments was voted down.

The move to cut the salaries came after a minor stockholder had criticized especially the salary of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board, declaring "there comes a time when a man outlives his usefulness."

The criticism of Schwab and others was an echo of legal efforts in recent years first to restrict the size of bonuses paid the officers and later to force them to return some of the money thus awarded.

The outburst against Schwab, president Eugene H. Grace and vice-president and secretary R. E. McMahon developed unexpectedly at the 30th annual meeting of stockholders, at which five directors were re-elected. They were C. Austin Buck, O. G. Jennings, William C. Potter, Schwab and James H. Ward.

A few minutes before the onset Grace told the stockholders the concern, which lost $20,000,000 in 1932 and $9,000,000 in 1933, made a profit of about $550,000 in 1934.

Declaring that "44,000 men got 67 cents an hour by the sweat of their brows while three officers of this corporation divided $448,000 in salaries last year," Leopold B. Coshland, New York, said:

"It isn't fair, just or honorable, and if I were Mr. Grace I would hide my face in shame. Such things make a man's blood boil."

He added that in the event of another war Schwab "would not stop for a moment to increase his profits through blood and war."

Mrs. Mary G. Gallagher, a widow of New York, said:

"No wonder Father Coughlin preaches about blood money. He knows what he is talking about. There is too much of this. Here we are without a cent, while you men store up millions x x x."

STUDY DETAILS OF BIG MONEY SPENDING JOB

Washington, April 9.—(P)—A series of conferences to decide details of the biggest money spending job in peace time history was arranged today by President Roosevelt almost immediately after his return to the capital.

Four or five definite proposals for the administrative set-up to handle the $4,880,000 work relief spending were before Mr. Roosevelt. His aides said, however, that he probably would hold a dozen parleys before he approved a specific plan sometime within the next week or ten days.

Those who will participate in the discussions were not named, but informed sources said they probably would be officials who will help in carrying out details of the program and possibly legislative advisors.

They added that a board of at least a half dozen men, perhaps more, would be set up to handle the allotments. They said Mr. Roosevelt planned to preside over this board as not only the titular but the active chairman.

From other quarters came the definite and authoritative information that three members of the board who have been definitely decided upon are Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, Harold L. Ickes, the public works administrator, and Rexford G. Tugwell, the undersecretary of agriculture.

Other likely members suggested were Rear Admiral Christian J. Peoples of the treasury procurement office and Robert Fechner, head of the civilian conservation corps.

It was pointed out, however, that these two selections were not yet definite.

The giant work program, designed to put trees where none grew before, set rivers to flowing in new channels and all but move mountains to give work to 3,500,000 men awaited only the final approval by Mr. Roosevelt of the method to be followed in carrying it out.

Hosts of projects already are waiting in government departments.

Cannot Identify Three Suspects

Chicago, April 9.—(P)—Two witnesses today failed to identify three men held for investigation concerning the $30,000 robbery of the W. A. Sheaffer Pen Company, Ft. Madison, Ia., last Oct. 27, but police continued to hold them in efforts to learn if they were wanted elsewhere.

Detained were Albert Lewis, 28, Jack Rothbaum, 33, and Charles Bohdan, 36, all of Chicago. They were apprehended, local officials said, after information from Police Chief John Thiesen of Ft. Madison was received. Despite the fact they were not identified, police said they intended to hold the pair until an officer, already en route to Springfield in efforts to obtain extradition papers, returned.

WOULD APPLY FOR U. S. RELIEF FUNDS

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—(P)—The House today adopted a joint resolution by Rep. Bernice T. Van Der Vries, Winnetka, republican, asking Governor Horner to apply for school relief funds from the $4,880,000 federal work relief appropriation.

Mrs. Van Der Vries said the federal law includes a $300,000,000 item for educational purposes and recommended that part of it be used in financing the public school districts of Illinois which have asked the legislature for increased state aid.

If obtained, the money should be appropriated by the governor upon the recommendations of the Stuttle educational commission, the resolution said.

Firemarshal Has Real Experience In Fire Drills

New York, April 9.—(P)—A deputy fire marshal gave a timely lecture today on fire drills and fire prevention. While he was speaking to a group of teachers at Public School 119 on West 133rd street, a blaze was discovered on the second floor of the building.

The teachers, sole occupants of the building, left the fourth floor promptly and orderly just as the deputy marshal had suggested. The fire was quickly extinguished.

Hauptmann Opens His Fight On U. S. Tax Assessment

Decision In Case May Not Be Reached Until After His Execution

By Fred B. Marbut, Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, April 9.—(P)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann today began a fight on a government income tax assessment which may not reach a decision until long after his execution for the Lindbergh baby's murder.

A petition filed jointly in his name and that of his wife, Anna, applied to the board of tax appeals for the determination of income tax claims, penalties and interest totaling $9,768 for 1932 and 1933.

The document was drafted by Attorney Frank B. Meske, (Chrysler building), New York.

The litigation may require two years for settlement. Hauptmann has been sentenced to death, with his appeal scheduled for hearing in June.

The name of Isidor Fisch, the tubercular German furrier from whom Hauptmann claimed to have received the Lindbergh ransom money found in his possession, recurs repeatedly in the long petition.

John J. Leach, AGED CIVIL WAR VET, PASSES AWAY

John J. Leach, prominent resident of Chesterfield, passed away recently at his home in that city. Mr. Leach was a cousin of Charles F. Leach of Mound Road, and had often visited in the county.

The decedent was born at Chesterfield in 1842, the youngest son of Thomas and Sarah Leach. Thomas Leach came to this country in 1830 and settled on a farm in Morgan county, Illinois. In 1832 he moved to Chesterfield and purchased a farm on which his son, John J. Leach, resided for many years.

John J. Leach enlisted in Company D, 122nd Regiment, Illinois Volunteer Infantry, and continued in the service until August, 1886, when he received his discharge. His death removes the last survivor of Company D, 122nd Infantry, which was comprised mostly of residents of Macoupin county.

He had served as supervisor of Chesterfield township, was for 27 years township school treasurer and was one of the organizers of the Chesterfield State bank.

Curtis Crow of Franklin was a business visitor here yesterday.

Most Sensitive "Piffle"

A citizen of Ohio who must have lost sight of his country's good wrote to Senator Vic Donahey and wanted to know why he voted against the world court. The Senator answered the inquiry with a letter that should be read by every patriotic American. But the Ohioan sent it to the editor of an internationally-slanted paper, with the comment that it was "mere piffle," and was not worthy to be called an argument.

Fortunately the editor published the letter, too with the intention of making Senator Donahey unpopular. But the sound sense in the letter, the statistics it quotes, and the European ingratitude toward America it reveals are things which should make patriots. We are glad to publish the "mere piffle" the Senator wrote. Here it is:

"If Great Britain made the payment due us on the war debt, it would cost her 4.1 per cent of her budget. She says she can't pay us, but she is spending 13 per cent of her budget on armaments."

"If France paid, it would cost her 2 per cent of her budget. She says she can't pay us, but she is spending 27.4 per cent of her budget on armaments. After the armistice was signed we loaned France more than a billion dollars and during the same period of time she loaned other European countries $700,000,000."

"If Italy paid us, it would cost her 1.4 per cent of her budget. She says she can't pay, but she is spending 33.1 per cent on armaments."

"We spent $42,000,000,000 on our war. We loaned them $12,000,000,000 more. We conscripted 4,000,000 men for their war. We shipped 2,000,000 across the sea. We shipped almost all in British bottoms, and paid Great Britain $140 to $180 for the transportation of every boy. We paid them to transport our boys to their war."

"A hundred and twenty-five thousand of those boys never came back."

"We are paying $600,000,000 a year interest on these debts that we contracted for them and that they now refuse to pay."

"If you subscribe to the greatest fraud of all time and condemn me for voting 'no' on world court adherence, sign this statement and return it to me."

"VIC DONAHEY."

A Definite Policy

The Liberty League calls upon the New Dealers for a definite statement of policy. Come to think of it, there has been no such declaration and no action toward a definite goal. The New Deal has been a succession of experiments, most of them contrary to American principles of economic and political action.

This has created unrest and dissatisfaction among the people. It has unnerfed business and sapped confidence. What the people want is a cessation of experimenting and a return to sound principles of government and economic law.

The excuse for this lack of definiteness has been that an emergency existed. It is freely admitted that when the New Deal came into being early in 1933, an emergency did exist, and at that time it was rather definitely and gallantly met. But the emergency agencies created at that time have been continued as permanent institutions of government until the necessity for their continued use is now seriously in question.

Meanwhile the policy of trying first one thing and then another has also been continued, while the people have a vague impression that large and costly machinery which has been set up to carry out the New Deal plans is to remain permanently a charge on the taxpayer.

Mourning taxes and the fear that even heavier taxes must be imposed to pay for the New Deal keep the country disturbed. Business is afraid of the future, and so also is the private citizen who sees the cost of living on the up and up and more and more of his income going to maintain government. The strain of the situation is

The Heart Takes a Hand

The human heart, that marvelous organ that moves 4,000 tons of blood a year and keeps pumping in the breast man for three score years and ten, and often longer, has taken a hand in the grave affairs of Europe. Captain Anthony Eden, lord privy seal of Britain, who has been traveling strenuously about the Continent talking security and winning the smaller nations into a compact that would place a steel ring around Germany, has been forced out of the picture by a heart strain. Under physician's orders he must take a complete rest for four to six weeks.

On Thursday England, France, and Italy meet at Stresa to put the finishing touches on a continental security pact. Eden's illness is a severe blow to the negotiations for it is he who has all the details at his fingertips. He has done a splendid piece of work, this young British diplomat, but it may require his personal presence to complete the job. If he cannot be there, the delicate structure he has built may collapse.

After all, most of the world's state-manship is the result of personal administration. And human endurance is limited. The heart, which thru millions of years has been evolved to rule over the life of a rather leisurely creature man, cannot stand the strain of modern life. Capt. Eden wore himself out and under the strain of physical exhaustion the heart gave way. He must go back for a time to a life such as his ancestors must have led, he must rest and relax. Otherwise he will be out of the historic picture of these times for good and all.

College For Seals

During the California Pacific Exposition at San Diego this summer, visitors will have opportunity to see a college for seals. At the big zoo in Balboa park such an institution is maintained, and the college now has some 1,500 alumni, all working as performers in circuses and other shows throughout the country.

The college has classes from the school. No doubt sealskin diplomats are given when the flipper boys line up for their degrees. Anyhow the Balboa kindergarten to the post graduate park zoo is a great place to go to school. We went thru the place once and found most of the animals in their natural habitat. The bears are allowed to live in dens and the seals in ponds.

Some may wonder what good a college education can do a seal. Well, it keeps his skin on his own back and off the back of some American lady whose husband couldn't afford it anyway. By getting an education a seal becomes a useful member of society and earns his living by the swat of his flippers.

Memorial to 'T.R.'

The Federal Relief Administration plans to purchase two sizable tracts in the "bad lands" of North Dakota and turn them into a public recreation area. Some 42,000 acres of land have been optioned, and present plans call for construction of a scenic drive following the Little Missouri River, erection of cabins and hotels, and laying out of camping sites, footpaths, riding trails, and so on.

The interesting thing about this venture is the fact that the park will be named for Theodore Roosevelt, whose old ranch lies right in that neighborhood.

It would be hard to think of a more fitting memorial to "Teddy" than a western park where all the people could enjoy outdoor life. No American did as much to make us conscious of the heart-lifting openness and beauty of our great west as Theodore Roosevelt; nor did anyone do as much to preserve the natural resources of that region for the public good.

Theodore Roosevelt Park should be a welcome addition to our recreational resources in more ways than one.

Uncle Sam a Real Uncle

Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, tells the House insular committee that no country in the world has ever treated a subject colony more generously and kindly than the United States has treated the Filipinos.

This tribute is all the more worthy of notice in that it comes from an islander who has been working for the independence of his people for more than 20 years; and it is a timely reminder that our government has, after all, made a pretty fair sort of record in its dealings with its Oriental colony.

There is something unique about this whole Philippine situation, when you stop to think about it; a body of people seeking their independence without any anger or bitterness, and a parent government awarding it to them without waiting for violence to jog its elbow. All in all, the record is one of which the American people can be rather proud.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Liberals Put the Heat on F. R.'s Secretary McIntyre... Influence Held Bad for President... New Dealers Don't Like the Company He Pals With.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington.—Fires are burning under Marvin H. McIntyre—the most important man in the White House, next to President Roosevelt.

Liberals of the administration seem almost unanimously convinced that McIntyre, the secretary who sits outside Roosevelt's office and makes his appointments, is a major factor in the recent decline of the president's prestige and effectiveness, which they attribute chiefly to acceptance of too much "bad advice."

Consequently, they think about the best thing that could happen to the New Deal would be the disappearance of McIntyre from the White House scene. And they're working toward that end.

Controlling the flow of visitors, telephone calls, telegrams, and mail into Roosevelt's inner office, McIntyre holds a unique strategic position. There are few outstanding liberals without some private complaint of inability to reach the president, or interruptions in case they do get in, or of mysterious leaks to their opponents after supposedly confidential White House visits.

McIntyre's influence extends throughout Washington. There are few administrative offices where a word from a White House secretary doesn't carry weight.

"Butterfly" of Capital

When the sagacious Louis Howe was in better health and in a position to transmit viewpoints and suggestions to Roosevelt, McIntyre wasn't such a problem to the progressives. But as Howe became increasingly ill and unable to function, the undercurrent of resentment against "Mac" grew.

He is a gay, genial soul who loves the social life opened to him by his rise to prominence. A friendly writer in a current magazine reports accurately that he is "out every night, flitting from party to party, besought by every lobbyist, contact man, political lawyer, and glory-seeker in town."

Therein, according to the liberals, lies the explanation why in general only persons of a certain type can "get to" Roosevelt. McIntyre's friends include members of the Farley-Hurja political spoils group, senators of the conservative Pat Harrison-Joe Robinson-Jimmy Byrnes clique—with whom he golfs at the fashionable Burning Tree club—admirals and "big navy" propagandists, lobbyists of various types—for shipbuilding, electrical equipment, Wall Street, and other interests, and wealthy administration playboys.

Friends are Powerful
These friends, of course, will stand staunchly behind McIntyre. They would be quick to contend that "Mac," whose loyalty and devotion to Roosevelt is unquestioned, has been of invaluable service in protecting the president from left-wingers, peace lobbyists, foes of the "power trust," and other purveyors of "half-baked ideas."

Although the effect of the secretary's contacts—conscious or unconscious—have usually been visible only to insiders, the Senate Munitions committee recently revealed an incident which at least indicated the type of influence McIntyre is able to wield.

Confidential memoranda from Arthur P. Homer, described as a "fixer" de luxe friend of admirals and of Roosevelt, said that Homer had approached Admiral Christian Joy People following the navy's rejection of the Bath (Me.) Iron Works bid for two destroyers.

F. R. Pooh-Poohs It

Peoples, according to the memo, approved a plan whereby Bath had ten persons send telegrams to the White House. McIntyre, Homer recorded, had promised to present the telegrams to Roosevelt.

Bath got the destroyers which, according to testimony, were expected to yield a profit of more than $1,000,000.

Roosevelt was asked about it at a press conference and underlook to laugh it off. He supposed "Mac" made ten or a dozen promises like that every day. But that didn't mean he kept them.

McIntyre did publicity for the navy

during the war and for Roosevelt in his 1920 vice-presidential campaign. Later he represented newswire companies here until Joe Kennedy, now chairman of Securities Exchange commission, reorganized one of them and let "Mac" out.

Then he joined the Roosevelt campaign organization. He has always been popular with most people here, for his chief assets are a sunny smile, a warm, friendly disposition, and loyalty to friends.

The undercover fight which now involves him is an expression of the never-ending battle here between liberals and conservatives. Transfer of McIntyre would be a major concession to the "left."

Public Invited to Better Homes Talk

Miss Ruth Brannon Speaks Wednesday Afternoon at MacMurray

Miss Ruth Brannon, lecturer with the Federal Housing Administration, will speak at MacMurray College Music hall at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Her talk will be especially interesting to housewives. All citizens are invited to attend the meeting, which is free to the public.

Miss Brannon is sent out by the administration to stimulate interest in better homes. She explains the workings of the Federal Housing Act and tells of the relief measures being taken by the government to provide better homes for the citizens.

Miss Brannon is an interesting speaker. She is touring the United States in the interest of better homes, and will make only one address in this city.

What do you mean, three years from seed bed to cigarettes...

I mean simply this—it actually takes about three years to make a Chesterfield cigarette.

It all starts with these little plants, called tobacco seedlings. They are grown under cover and transplanted to the open fields in the early spring.

Then the warm Southern sunshine begins to get in its good work and as the plants grow and ripen the mild ripe leaves are cut and sent to the curing barns. The farmer then takes his tobacco to the auction warehouse where it is sold to the highest bidder. All of this takes about a year.

The tobaccos for Chesterfield cigarettes are then stored away for two years or more to make them milder and taste better.

It all takes time—just about three years—but there is no substitute for mild ripe tobacco in making a good cigarette. That's the reason smokers—men and women—say that Chesterfields are milder and that Chesterfields taste better.

Most Sensible "Piffle"

A citizen of Ohio who must have lost sight of his country's good wrote to Senator Vic Donahey and wanted to know why he voted against the world court. The Senator answered the inquiry with a letter that should be read by every patriotic American. But the Ohioan sent it to the editor of an internationally-slanted paper, with the comment that it was "mere piffle," and was not worthy to be called an argument.

Fortunately the editor published the letter, tho with the intention of making Senator Donahey unpopular. But the sound sense in the letter, the statistics it quotes, and the European ingratitude toward America it reveals are things which should make patriots.
We are glad to publish the "mere piffle" the Senator wrote. Here it is:
"If Great Britain made the payment due us on the war debt, it would cost her 4.1 per cent of her budget.
She says she can't pay us, but she is spending 13 per cent of her budget on armaments.

"If France paid, it would cost her 2 per cent of her budget. She says she can't pay us, but she is spending 27.4 per cent of her budget on armaments.
After the armistice was signed we loaned France more than a billion dollars and during the same period of time she loaned other European countries $700,000,000.

"If Italy paid us, it would cost her 1.4 per cent of her budget. She says she can't pay, but she is spending 33.1 per cent on armaments.

"We spent $42,000,000,000 on their war. We loaned them $12,000,000,000 more. We conscripted 4,000,000 men for their war. We shipped 2,000,000 across the sea. We shipped almost all in British bottoms, and paid Great Britain $140 to $180 for the transportation of every boy. We paid them to transport our boys to their war.

"A hundred and twenty-five thousand of those boys never came back.
"We are paying $800,000,000 a year
interest on these debts that we contracted for them and that they now refuse to pay.

"If you subscribe to the greatest fraud of all time and condemn me for voting 'no' on world court adherence, sign this statement and return it to me.

"VIC DONAHEY."

A Definite Policy

The Liberty League calls upon the New Dealers for a definite statement of policy. Come to think of it, there has been no such declaration and no action toward a definite goal. The New Deal has been a succession of experiments, most of them contrary to American principles of economic and political action.

This has created unrest and dissatisfaction among the people. It has unnerved business and sapped confidence. What the people want is a cessation of experimenting and a return to sound principles of government and economic law.

The excuse for this lack of definite-ness has been that an emergency existed. It is freely admitted that when the New Deal came into being early in 1933, an emergency did exist, and at that time it was rather definitely and gallantly met. But the emergency agencies created at that time have been continued as permanent institutions of government until the necessity for their continued use is now seriously in question.

Meanwhile the policy of trying first one thing and then another has also been continued, while the people have a vague impression that large and costly machinery which has been set up to carry out the New Deal plans is to remain permanently a charge on the taxpayer.

Mourning taxes and the fear that even heavier taxes must be imposed to pay for the New Deal keep the country disturbed. Business is afraid of the future, and so also is the private citizen who sees the cost of living on the up and up and more and more of his income going to maintain government. The strain of the situation is beginning to tell on the national morale.

The Heart Takes a Hand

The human heart, that marvelous organ that moves 4,000 tons of blood a year and keeps pumping in the breast man for three score years and ten, and often longer, has taken a hand in the grave affairs of Europe. Captain Anthony Eden, lord privy seal of Britain, who has been traveling strenuously about the Continent talking security and winning the smaller nations into a compact that would place a steel ring around Germany, has been forced out of the picture by a heart strain. Under physician's orders he must take a complete rest for four to six weeks.

On Thursday England, France and Italy meet at Stresa to put the finishing touches on a continental security pact. Eden's illness is a severe blow to the negotiations for it is he who has all the details at his fingertips. He has done a splendid piece of work. This young British diplomat, but it may require his personal presence to complete the job. If he cannot be there, the delicate structure he has built may collapse.

After all, most of the world's statesmanship is the result of personal administration. And human endurance is limited. The heart, which thru millions of years has been evolved to rule over the life of a rather leisurely creature man, cannot stand the strain of modern life. Capt. Eden wore himself out and under the strain of physical exhaustion the heart gave way.
He must go back for a time to a life such as his ancestors must have led;
he must rest and relax. Otherwise he will be out of the historic picture of these times for good and all.

College For Seals

During the California Pacific Exposition at San Diego this summer, visitors will have opportunity to see a college for seals. At the big zoo in Balboa park such an institution is maintained, and the college now has some 1,500 alumni, all working as performers in circuses and other shows thruout the country.

The college has classes from the school. No doubt sealskin diplomas are given when the flipper boys line up for their degrees. Anyhow the Balboa kindergarten to the post graduate park zoo is a great place to go to school. We went thru the place once and found most of the animals in their natural habitat. The bears are allowed to live in dens and the seals in ponds.

Some may wonder what good a college education can do a seal. Well, it keeps his skin on his own back and off the back of some American lady whose husband couldn't afford it anyway. By getting an education a seal becomes a useful member of society and earns his living by the swat of his flippers.

Memorial to 'T.R.'

The Federal Relief Administration plans to purchase two sizable tracts in the "bad lands" of North Dakota and turn them into a public recreation area. Some 42,000 acres of land have been optioned, and present plans call for construction of a scenic drive following the Little Missouri River, erection of cabins and hotels, and laying out of camping sites, footpaths, riding trails, and so on.

The interesting thing about this venture is the fact that the park will be named for Theodore Roosevelt, whose old ranch lies right in that neighborhood.

It would be hard to think of a more fitting memorial to "Teddy" than a western park where all the people could enjoy outdoor life. No American did as much to make us conscious of the heart-lifting openness and beauty of our great west as Theodore Roosevelt; nor did anyone do as much to preserve the natural resources of that region for the public good.

Theodore Roosevelt Park should be a welcome addition to our recreational resources in more ways than one.

Uncle Sam a Real Uncle

Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, tells the House insular committee that no country in the world has ever treated a subject colony more generously and kindly than the United States has treated the Filipinos.

This tribute is all the more worthy of notice in that it comes from an islander who has been working for the independence of his people for more than 20 years; and it is a timely reminder that our government has, after all, made a pretty fair sort of record in its dealings with its Oriental colony.

There is something unique about this whole Philippine situation, when you stop to think about it; a body of people seeking their independence without any anger or bitterness, and a parent government awarding it to them without waiting for violence to jog its elbow. All in all, the record is one of which the American people can be rather proud.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Liberals Put the Heat on F.
R.'s Secretary McIntyre . . .
Influence Held Bad For President . . . New Dealers
Don't Like the Company He Pals With.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Fires are burning under Marvin H. McIntyre—the most important man in the White House, next to President Roosevelt.

Liberals of the administration seem almost unanimously convinced that McIntyre, the secretary who sits outside Roosevelt's office and makes his appointments, is a major factor in the recent decline of the president's prestige and effectiveness, which they attribute chiefly to acceptance of too much "bad advice."

Consequently, they think about the best thing that could happen to the New Deal would be the disappearance of McIntyre from the White House scene. And they're working toward that end.

Controlling the flow of visitors, telephone calls, telegrams, and mail into Roosevelt's inner office, McIntyre holds a unique strategic position. There are few outstanding liberals without some private complaint of inability to reach the president, of interruptions in case they do get in, or of mysterious leaks to their opponents after supposedly confidential White House visits.

McIntyre's influence extends throughout Washington. There are few administrative offices where a word from a White House secretary doesn't carry weight.

"Butterfly" of Capital

When the sagacious Louis Howe was in better health and in a position to transmit viewpoints and suggestions to Roosevelt, McIntyre wasn't such a problem to the progressives. But as Howe became increasingly ill and unable to function, the undercurrent of resentment against "Mac" grew.

He is a gay, genial soul who loves the social life opened to him by his rise to prominence. A friendly writer in a current magazine reports accurately that he is "out every night, flitting from party to party, besought by every lobbyist, contact man, political lawyer, and glory-seeker in town."

Therein, according to the liberals, lies the explanation why in general only persons of a certain type can "get to" Roosevelt. McIntyre's friends include members of the Parley-Hurja political spoils group, senators of the conservative Pat Harrison-Joe Robinson-Jimmy Burns clique—with whom he golfs at the fashionable Burning Tree club—admirals and "big navy" propagandists, lobbyists of various types—for shipbuilding, electrical equipment, Wall Street, and other interests, and wealthy administration playboys.

Friends are Powerful

These friends, of course, will stand staunchly behind McIntyre. They would be quick to contend that "Mac," whose loyalty and devotion to Roosevelt is unquestioned, has been of invaluable service in protecting the president from left-wingers, peace lobbyists, foes of the "power trust," and other purveyors of "half-baked ideas."

Although the effect of the secretary's contacts—conscious or unconscious—have usually been visible only to insiders, the Senate Munitions committee recently revealed an incident which at least indicated the type of influence McIntyre is able to wield.

Confidential memoranda from Arthur P. Homer, described as a "fixer" de luxe friend of admirals and of Roosevelt, said that Homer had approached Admiral Christian Joy Peoples following the navy's rejection of the Bath (Me.) Iron Works bid for two destroyers.

F. R. Pooh-Poohs It

Peoples, according to the memo, approved a plan whereby Bath had ten persons send telegrams to the White House. McIntyre, Homer recorded, had promised to present the telegrams to Roosevelt.

Bath got the destroyers which, according to testimony, were expected to yield a profit of more than $1,000,000.
Roosevelt was asked about it at a press conference and undertook to laugh it off. He supposed "Mac" made ten or a dozen promises like that every day. But that didn't mean he kept them.

during the war and for Roosevelt in his 1920 vice-presidential campaign.
Later he represented newsreel companies here until Joe Kennedy, now chairman of Securities Exchange commission, reorganized one of them and let "Mac" out.

Then he joined the Roosevelt campaign organization. He has always been popular with most people here,
for his chief assets are a sunny smile,
a warm, friendly disposition, and loyalty to friends.

The undercover fight which now involves him is an expression of the never-ending battle here between liberals and conservatives. Transfer of McIntyre would be a major concession to the "left."

Shapiro's Baton Leads Orchestra In Concert Here

Notable Program Given by Little Philharmonic at College Hall

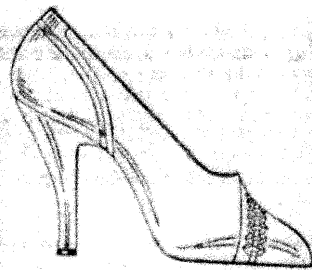

One of the finest concerts given in Jacksonville in many years was the program given by "The Little Philharmonic Orchestra" under the direction of Mr. George Shapiro in Music Hall on Monday evening. Not only was it a fine concert but it was unique as far as the experience of most of those in the audience was concerned.

Mr. Shapiro has studied the orchestra, has diagnosed the needs of the public and through years of experience he has successfully reduced the symphony orchestra of the metropolitan centers to an organization which can be taken to smaller communities and in smaller halls can bring to music lovers the delight afforded only by orchestral music.

The orchestra consisted of six strings, a wood wind quartet, three basses and the drums. The balance was most satisfactory and the music was most satisfactory.

Shapiro's Baton Leads Orchestra In Concert Here

Notable Program Given by Little Philharmonic at College Hall

One of the finest concerts given in Jacksonville in many years was the program given by "The Little Philharmonic Orchestra" under the direction of Mr. George Shapiro in Music Hall on Monday evening. Not only was it a fine concert but it was unique as far as the experience of most of those in the audience was concerned.

Mr. Shapiro has studied the orchestra, has diagnosed the needs of the public and through years of experience he has successfully reduced the symphony orchestra to the metropolitan centers to an organization which can be taken to smaller communities and in smaller halls can bring to music lovers the delight afforded only by orchestral music.

The orchestra consisted of six strings, a wood wind quartette, three basses and the drums. The balance was most satisfactory and the music.

Max Baer Offered $300,000 To Battle Max Schmeling in European Ring Next August

Wins Golf Medal For Second Time

Winchester, N. C., April 9.—(AP)—For the second successive year, Charlotte Glutting of East Orange, N. J., won the qualifying medal in the north and south women's golf championship today, scoring a 38-38-76, five above men's par for the No. 3 course. Last year she carded a 78 and then went on to win the title.

But for sixes on the first two par 4 holes, Miss Glutting might have broken Maureen Orcutt's course record of 73. Off to such a poor start, she settled down, played the next four holes in par, then got two birdies. A bogey 8 on the ninth put her on 28.

Another 38 on the home stretch gave her a five-stroke lead over Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., and Estelle Lawson, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Helen Waring, state champion, had second place within her grasp but, needing a 4 on the home hole for an 80, slumped to take 84.

Scores as high as 81 made the championship flight. Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow of Baltimore, seven-times holder of the Maryland state title, barely got in. Mrs. Morrow had 44 out but slumped badly on the last three holes to the Mrs. S. F. Little of Fort Bragg, N. C.

WIN GOLF MATCH

Atlanta, April 9.—(AP)—Olin Dutra, National Open champion from California, and Jimmy Thomson, long-hitting young pro from Long Beach, Calif., teamed today to beat Bobby Jones and Charlie Yates, National Intercollegiate champion, and 2 in an exhibition match.

Despite a bitter wind, some 700 of Jones' townsfolk turned out and were treated to some brilliant golf over the No. 1 layout at East Lake Country Club, Jones' home course.

The stocky Thomson, smashing terrific drives in spite of the wind handicap and pitching with great accuracy, carded a 67, three under par. Yates stood third in the scoring with a 69 while Dutra and Jones each equalled par with a 70.

LOPSIDED SCORES IN CAGE LEAGUE

Browns And Steinheimers Win By Large Margins In Games

By Bob Cavanaugh
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, April 9.—(AP)—A contract offering Max Baer $300,000 for a heavyweight title defense against Steve Schmeling in Europe August 17 arrived in this country today with Charlie Harvey, veteran manager, who is representing Walter Rothenberg, German promoter.

The site of the prospective bout has not been determined, said Harvey, but the White City stadium outside of London, Rome and Vienna are possibilities, with Rome apparently holding the inside track.

Returning with his heavyweight Steve Hammis, who was trounced by Schmeling in Hamburg several weeks ago Harvey visualized the German promoter as a "second Tex Rickard," with an equally expansive imagination and "the money to back it up."

The terms of the contract he displayed call for Baer's appearance in Europe on or before July 17—one month before the fight—and also stipulates the heavyweight king shall not engage in any fight between July 1 and August 17.

Two financial propositions were made. The first calls for Baer to receive $150,000 four weeks before the fight and the remaining $150,000 ten days before he climbs into the ring with Schmeling. The alternative proposition offers Baer $150,000 upon arrival in Europe and the balance after the fight.

Harvey picked Schmeling as a fine-conditioned fighter but called him "a still a counter puncher." He would not venture any opinion as to the German's chances against Baer except to say "a puncher always has a chance."

Contrary to reports from Berlin today, Harvey, who was minus his famous handle-bar mustache, said Schmeling told him recently he would not fight in the United States again because 30 per cent on his purse would go to his American manager, Joe Jacobs, and a sizeable lump to the federal government for income tax.

Max Machon, Schmeling's trainer, told the Associated Press in Berlin "Max merely insists on a fight against Max Baer on neutral ground, but it is nonsense to say he has declined to go to America at all."

Browns Wallop Cardinals 6-5

St. Louis, April 9.—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby's renovated Browns landed on Dixie Dean for 13 hits today and took their second game of a city series from the world champion Cardinals, 6 to 5.

Buck Newsom, Brown hurler, in the ninth was relieved by Coffman who stopped a final inning Cardinal rally that netted three runs.

Pepper, Brown first baseman, opened the scoring in the second frame, reaching home on Bell's single. Lowering skies kept the crowd to 1,200.

The Cardinals took the first series game Saturday, 6 to 3.

Livestock Market Discussed at Meet

Concord Farmers Hear of Price Trends; Meet Here Tuesday

A largely attended livestock marketing meeting was held Monday night at the Concord village hall, with Daniel Dietrich, president of the Morgan County Shipping Service, in the chair. Clarence Moore, from the Producers Livestock Commission Association, was the principal speaker. Mr. Moore discussed marketing problems of the present. He also traced the future trends of livestock prices. Following his talk came a picture showing cooperative marketing activities. A similar meeting for farmers of the Jacksonville area was held last evening at the Farm Bureau headquarters.

WHERE TO PLAY BOTHERS COACH

Northwestern Scheduled To Play Blueboys Thursday, But Grounds Are Wet

Where Illinois College is going to take on Northwestern University of the Big Ten in a baseball engagement this Thursday afternoon, was a problem that was beginning to bother Coach Raymond Nussipke yesterday. There was no solution to it immediately available, but the coach hoped to find place where the game could be staged.

Ordinarily, the Wildcats would be entertained on the college's own baseball lot, but Sunday's snow, Monday's melting period and the wet field Tuesday went a long way toward causing the coach to doubt that it would be possible to play any baseball on his field this week unless one of those miracle suns came out and shined brightly all day Wednesday.

The odds were against that too, he declared, because there doesn't seem to be any such thing as a sun this spring. Maybe he feels that way because the boys didn't do quite as well as they should have against the Whites, but he is hitting so well, but it is a fact that there hasn't been enough sunshine in this part of the state this spring to please a baseball coach.

Nussipke looked over the State Hospital and Maudslayi Lake ball yards yesterday, and they were just as wet as his own ballfield. The State Hospital grounds offer the additional problem that it is almost impossible to change any fee for the game, and that completely checks raising any of the $75 Northwestern believes will be necessary for them to arrange to stop off here on their southern baseball trip.

The Maudslayi diamond is not ready to use and is just as wet as the college diamond. All of the water has drained off the college field, but there is a deep coating of mud that will take some time to dry away.

The Blueboys went into the outfield to get their base running and hitting practice during yesterday's regular practice session.

GEORGE T. BLACK TAKEN BY DEATH

George T. Black, a lifetime citizen of Morgan county, died at 5:55 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. B. Boston, southeast of Jacksonville. He was 75 years 7 months and 7 days old.

Mr. Black was born north of this city September 2, 1859, a son of Peachy H. and Sarah Black. He was united in marriage with Miss Sarah A. Smullen who preceded him in death February 19, 1888.

To this union four children were born: Mrs. L. B. Boston and Paul Black of Jacksonville; Leo E. and Hugh Black preceding their father in death. Leo died in 1920 and Hugh in infancy.

There are three brothers and two sisters, Henry and Jennie Black of Long Beach, Calif., John William of Springfield, Ill., Richard of the Simsbury community, and Mrs. Attie Elizabeth Freitag of Jacksonville. There are six grandchildren: Paul Jr., Harold Wayne and Richard Lee Black; William Edward, Dorothy Luella and Leslie Paul Boston of Jacksonville. One brother and three sisters preceded him in death.

Mr. Black believed in the saving power of Christ, and was a member of the Methodist church.

The remains were removed to the Arthur G. Cody Memorial Home where services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. William J. Boston will officiate, and interment will be made in Jacksonville cemetery.

NOTICE

Wins Five Out Of Six Games In Tournament Last Evening

Judge William E. Thomson, jumped into the lead in the Morgan County Checker Tournament last night when he won five out of six games, during play in the Council Chamber at the City Hall.

The leaders continued to play consistent checkers and won a majority of their games.

The leaders with their percentages including last night's games are as follows: W. E. Thomson, 750; D. S. Chapman, 729; P. G. Stein, 714; L. E. Biggs, 690; George Cox, 636; and A. B. Christian, Meredith, 608.

Play will continue in the tournament again tonight but the tournament will not be completed before Thursday night when the two men who will play in the Four-Country Tourney will be known.

Many checker fans gathered at the city hall last night to watch the games and it is believed that a larger number will be present at the games tonight and tomorrow night when the competition becomes keen.

The finals in the Four-Country Tournament will open on April 15, when players from Scott, Greene and Cass counties will come to Jacksonville to meet with the Morgan county players.

Other scores were: Rolly Cooper, won 5, lost 2 and tied three; Donald Bridges, won 4, lost 5 and tied one; Jack McNeely, won 2, lost 8, and H. Cox, lost 10.

$2,039.27 Allotted From Gas Tax Fund

County Gets Share of March Collections For Road Building Maintenance

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Distribution of $290,082.03 to Illinois counties for highway construction and maintenance from March collections under the motor fuel tax law was announced Tuesday by the Department of Finance.

The total one-third allotment to the counties was $534,372.03, but the state set aside reserves of $292,700 and $24,400 for interest and retirement on the two gas tax diversion relief bond issues. Diversion of gasoline taxes to schools has ended.

Morgan county's share of the gas tax for the month was $2,039.27. Other counties in the adjacent territory are not mentioned in the announcement.

History of G.A.R. Post Reviewed at Meeting of Women

Post Here Was Named for Col. Starr Who Died of Battle Wound

The Ladies of the Grand Army Circle No. 122 held their stated meeting recently at the American Legion Home. Mrs. Rachel Massey was initiated into the order, also five grandsons of Union Veterans were admitted to honorary membership, namely, William Wainright, Ted Wainright, Harlan Eyre, Wilbur Phillips and Bob Leach.

After the business period a short program was given in observance of the Grand Army of the Republic. An interesting paper was given by Mrs. Emma Self on the organization of the G.A.R. of Union veterans which took place in Springfield April 1st, 1866. The idea having originated by the late Dr. Benjamin Stephenson, a surgeon of the 14th Ill. Infantry; also a physician of Springfield. She also told of the organization of the first G.A.R. post in Decatur on April 6th, 1866.

Mrs. Ellen McNeely gave a splendid paper on "Appomattox Day."

A poem entitled "Resolution" was read by Mrs. Ruth Robinson.

A brief history was given of the organization of Matt Starr Post No. 378 of this city. It was organized Jan. 11th, 1884, and survived until the passing of the last member, the late William B. Young in March, 1932.

In the year 1900 the post compiled a roster which showed that 229 members had been mustered into the order up to that date. The post was active in the remaining years but during the last few years was unable to hold their meetings regularly owing to the declining years. But they never surrendered their charter. The post honored itself by adopting for its name that of Colonel Matthew Starr, a Jacksonville boy who made for himself a brilliant record of service and gallantry. He entered the service in 1861 and on Aug. 21st, 1864 fell mortally wounded at the head of his regiment. He was brought home and died Oct. 2nd, 1864.

The history of the post has been one of delightful comradeship, and great good was done in the relief of needy and distressed comrades and their families.

Loose Steering Rod Causes Large Truck To Hit Pole, Fence

Kansas City Transport in Accident East of City Early Tuesday Morning

Two employees of a Kansas City transport company and the wife of one narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday morning when a large truck and trailer plunged through a fence 2 miles east of Jacksonville. The truck remained upright but at a dangerous angle.

After leaving the pavement the heavy truck and trailer snapped off a telephone pole before crashing through the fence at the south side of the highway. The wheels buried in the mud and it was a day's job to get the big vehicle back on the pavement.

State Patrolman Harvey Dowling whose home is but a short distance west of the scene of the accident, went to assistance of the truck crew. One man and his wife suffered slight cuts on their faces.

They said they did not need hospital treatment, but were taken to a pharmacy where they obtained emergency treatment.

The driver reported the accident occurred when a steering rod became loose. The rod dragged on the pavement for a short distance.

The truck was loaded with empty beer kegs and was headed east.

Employees of the Illinois Telephone company went to the scene and repaired the damage to the lines, setting a new pole where the other was sheered off.

Wins Golf Medal For Second Time

Helenhurst, N. C., April 9.—(P)—For the second successive year, Charlotte Glutting of East Orange, N. J., won the qualifying medal in the north and south women's golf championship today, scoring a 38-38-76, five above men's par for the three rounds. Last year she carded a 78 and then went on to win the title.

But for sixes on the first two par 4 holes, Miss Glutting might have broken Maureen Orcutt's course record of 73. Off to such a poor start, she settled down, played the next four holes in par, then got two birdies. A bogey 8 on the ninth put her out in 38.

Another 38 on the home stretch gave her a five-stroke lead over Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., and Estelle Lawson, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Helen Harring, state champion, had second place within her grasp but, needing a 4 on the home hole for an 80, slumped to take 6 for 84.

Scores as high as 61 made the championship flight. Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow of Baltimore, seven-times holder of the Maryland state title, barely got in. Mrs. Morrow had 44 out but slumped badly on the last three holes to tie Mrs. S. F. Little of Port Bragg, N. C.

WIN GOLF MATCH

Atlanta, April 9.—(P)—Olin Dutra, National Open champion from California, and Jimmy Thomson, long-hitting young pro from Long Beach, Calif., teamed today to beat Bobby Jones and Charlie Yates, National Intercollegiate champion, and 2 in an exhibition match.

Despite a bitter wind, some 700 of Jones' townsfolk turned out and were treated to some brilliant golf over the No. 1 layout at East Lake Country Club, Jones' home course.

The stocky Thomson, smashing terrific drives in spite of the wind handicap and pitching with great accuracy, carded a 67, three under par. Yates stood next in the scoring with a 69 while Dutra and Jones each equalled par with a 70.

BATTLE TO TIE

Kingsport, Tenn., April 9.—(P)—After the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians had battled on even terms through eleven innings, Umpire "Steamboat" Johnson decided it was too cold to play and called today's game with the teams deadlocked at one all.

New York (N).....000 000 010 00—1 7 0
Cleveland (A).....000 100 000 00—1 7 0

$2,039.27 Allotted From Gas Tax Fund

County Gets Share of March Collections For Road Building Maintenance

Springfield, Ill.—(P)—Distribution of $290,082.03 to Illinois counties for highway construction and maintenance from March collections under the motor fuel tax law was announced Tuesday by the Department of Finance.

The total one-third allotment to the counties was $534,372.03, but the state set aside reserves of $202,700 and $41,590 for interest and retirement on the two gas tax diversion relief bond issues. Division of gasoline taxes to schools has ended.

Morgan county's share of the gas tax for the month was $2,039.27. Other counties in the adjacent territory are not mentioned in the announcement.

CITIZENS PARTY HOLDS MEETING

History of G.A.R. Post Reviewed at Meeting of Women

Post Here Was Named for Col. Starr Who Died of Battle Wound

The Ladies of the Grand Army Circle No. 122 held their stated meeting recently at the American Legion Home. Mrs. Rachel Massey was initiated into the order, also five grandsons of Union Veterans were admitted to honorary membership, namely, William Walright, Ted Walright, Harlan Ely, Wilbur Phillips and Bob Leach.

After the business period a short program was given in observance of the Grand Army of the Republic. An interesting paper was given by Mrs. Emma Self on the organization of the G.A.R. of Union veterans which took place in Springfield April 1st, 1866, the idea having originated by the late Dr. Benjamin Stephenson, a surgeon of the 14th Ill. Infantry; she also a physician of Springfield. She also told of the organization of the first G.A.R. post in Decatur on April 6th, 1866.

Mrs. Ellen McNeely gave a splendid paper on "Appomattox Day."

A poem entitled "Resolution" was read by Mrs. Ruth Robinson.

A brief history was given of the organization of Matt Starr Post No. 378 of this city. It was organized Jan. 11th, 1884, and survived until the passing of the last member, the late William B. Young in March, 1932.

In the year 1900 the post compiled a roster which showed that 329 members had been mustered into the order up to that date. The post was active in the remaining years but during the last few years was unable to hold their meetings regularly owing to their declining years. But they never surrendered their charter. The post honored itself by adopting for its name that of Colonel Matthew Starr, a Jacksonville boy who made for himself a brilliant record of service and gallantry. He entered the service in 1861 and on Aug. 21st, 1864 fell mortally wounded at the head of his regiment. He was brought home and died Oct. 2nd, 1864.

The history of the post has been one of delightful comradeship, and great good was done in the relief of needy and distressed comrades and their families.

Other scores were: Rolly Cooper, won 5, lost 2 and tied three; Donald Bridges, won 4, lost 5 and tied one; Jack McNeese, won 2, lost 3, and H. Cox, lost 10.

Loose Steering Rod Causes Large Truck To Hit Pole, Fence

Kansas City Transport in Accident East of City Early Tuesday Morning

Two employees of a Kansas City transport company and the wife of one narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday morning when a large truck and trailer plunged through a fence 2 miles east of Jacksonville. The truck remained upright but at a dangerous angle.

After leaving the pavement the heavy truck and trailer snapped off a telephone pole before crashing through the fence at the south side of the highway. The wheels buried in the mud and it was a day's job to get the big vehicle back on the pavement.

State Patrolman Harvey Dowling whose home is but a short distance west of the scene of the accident, went to assistance of the truck crew. One man and his wife suffered slight cuts on their faces.

They said they did not need hospital treatment, but were taken to a pharmacy where they obtained emergency treatment.

The driver reported the accident occurred when a steering rod became loose. The rod dragged on the pavement for a short distance.

The truck was loaded with empty beer kegs and was headed east.

Employees of the Illinois Telephone company went to the scene and repaired the damage to the lines, setting a new pole where the other was sheered off.

Stock Market Jumps Ahead

By Frank MacMillen.

New York, April 9.—(P)—The stock market jumped ahead like a startled pedestrian in the final ten minutes of trading today.

A sudden burst of enthusiasm for the metal shares appeared to have as much as any other factor to do with the quick rush for equities, but most of the list evinced a readiness to respond to buying.

The creeping advance of the past week or so appeared to have finally stamped the bear forces into a covering movement, and the bulls were naturally not averse to helping the buying along. A number of leaders got ahead 1 to 3 points or so, while U. S. Smelting, a metal stock recently freely offered, was 61 points higher at 104.

The share market did not get, or appear to require, much stimulus from the bond list. Corporate bonds were about steady, while government obligations were rather draggy, and volume was restricted in all divisions.

Commodities were a little more helpful, particularly corn, which came up sharply toward the close to end 1 to 2 cents a bushel higher. Wheat was about steady at prices unchanged to 1 cent of a bushel lower, while cotton lifted 60 to 65 cents a bale.

While turnover on the stock exchange was only 856,184 shares, nearly 300,000 changed hands in the final hour, and much of it the last ten minutes or so. Thousand-share stocks in some of the trading favorites were common enough. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 7 of a point to 38.1, the highest level since Feb. 24.

Corn Prices Soar As Market Closes

Chicago, April 9.—(P)—Soaring corn prices climaxed an otherwise dull grain market session today.

A late rally in the corn pit, which carried the prices of all grains except wheat to sharp gains for the day, gave trade expression to the mounting evidence of diminishing supplies of corn accompanying the price jump was a revival of floor gossip suggesting the possibility of a market squeeze in May corn when the time comes for delivery on huge speculative contracts.

With May selling at a new high since February 26, corn closed 4 to 21 cents above the previous finish, May 97 1/2. Wheat was unchanged to 1 cent lower, May 95 1/2. Oats gained 1 1/2 and rye was 1-1 cent up.

As a result of the current rally, corn has advanced around 11 cents from recent low figures with only a reaction of two cents to interrupt the upturn. July corn, for example, is 7 cents higher than a week ago while July wheat is a little more than a cent up.

There's Room for "New" Homes Like This in Morgan County

Believe it or not the pictures here are of the same home. The illustration on the right shows a nondescript and uninteresting cottage. There are thousands of homes like this—some of them in Morgan county.

Tearing away the porch, re-shaping the roof a bit, a new bathroom and other interior changes resulted in a most attractive home of the newest type. Terracing and landscaping added their bit. Inside, the house was made a model of efficiency and convenience. Use the coupon below and take advantage of this free service. DISTRICT CLUBS TO AID SOME STUDENTS WITH SCHOLARSHIPS

District officers of the Federated Woman's Clubs in the Education department have received the outline for study and programs to be used during 1935-36 in the clubs. This is sent out much earlier than usual and will be part of the work of every organization in the district.

Mrs. James Oldshue, state chairman, expects to visit the district and will speak upon the need of cooperation with schools in present legislation. Strong support of desirable laws must come from the Federated clubs if the legislative program which has been approved, is to produce good results.

Scholarships have been placed in charge of Mrs. A. W. Shim-mel, past district president, of Pittsfield. The work is moving forward to the goal of having all clubs in the district supporting scholarships. The fund is available in small sums and the local district chairman of Education, Mrs. E. P. Brockhouse, will communicate with club chairmen in the district and county, desiring information. The complete outline will be sent to every county president. If possible reports should be made at once for the work accomplished this year.

Pike County Man Is Killed in Sawmill Accident Tuesday

F.J. BLACKBURN PLEDGES GOOD GOVERNMENT

Responsible To Citizens, Not Politicians, Large Audience Hears

An audience of more than 200 enthusiastic supporters of the Republican ticket in the coming municipal election packed the second floor of the Peacock Inn last night for a mass meeting in the interest of the candidates. Many were unable to get in to hear the speakers.

Hugh Green, representative in the state legislature, presided as chairman and introduced the candidates and several speakers in behalf of the ticket. Fletcher J. Blackburn, candidate for mayor, was first to be presented. He reiterated his pledge to give the city a sound business administration, to keep down expenses and not to increase the tax burden. He expressed a desire to see the city make progress. He urged the election of the entire Republican ticket as a means of providing Jacksonville with an efficient city government.

Robert Keating, candidate for city clerk, was next introduced. Mr. Green stated that he is well fitted for the position he seeks by education and business training. Mr. Keating told the audience that he received his education at Illinois college and at Brown's Business College. He promised to do all in his power to give the office of city clerk an efficient administration.

Miss Gertrude Hamilton, candidate for city treasurer, said in part: "I first want to thank all the voters of Jacksonville for the splendid support they gave me in the primary. During my two years as assistant treasurer of the city, it has been my aim to treat all citizens in a fair and courteous manner and to do all the work as it should be done. I make the people of Jacksonville this pledge that if I am elected to the office of treasurer, I will devote my full time to the work of the office, that I will continue in operation the fool-proof system of accounting I have helped install in this office, so that all who are paying on special assessments may be sure they will receive proper credit for their payments. I feel that we have people on the Republican ticket who can serve the city in an excellent manner."

Mr. Blackburn in his address to the citizens said in part:

"It is gratifying to see this large room filled with people interested in the candidacy of a group of folks that have in mind only what is best for Jacksonville. The Republican party offers a splendid ticket."

"I want to endorse Gertrude Hamilton for city treasurer. For many years I have known her family well. Her people represent the best type of citizenship. Miss Hamilton is courteous, capable and honest."

Robert Keating is a man with whom I am proud to be associated. During this campaign I have heard nothing but the best about him and his ability. I want to endorse his candidacy and help him in every way that I can.

"The aldermanic candidates are of the right sort and are favorably known to all. I trust you will give them your support."

"Thinking back three months it will be recalled that my candidacy for mayor was not urged by Republicans alone. I am proud to say that among my ardent supporters there can be found many of Jacksonville's best citizens who are Democrats."

No Promises

"It can also be recalled that at the first Blackburn for mayor meeting, a statement that I was making the race without promising jobs, was made. I have promised no one, and to the best of my knowledge, no one else has promised for me. If this has been done it certainly has been without my consent."

"At this meeting I pledge the practice of genuine economy, no further taxation by assessments, no more bonds unless it be the desire of the people and an earnest effort to improve the earth streets and oil them, to improve our parks and to use every possible means in bringing to our city federal money to be used in public improvements. I also pledged myself to make no distinction between color, religion or politics."

"In this contest I am not depending upon money to elect me. I am leaning confidently upon the support of my friends. This support is most sincerely appreciated, and my hope is, that in the event of my election, there will be no cause for disappointment. I shall ever be found trying to administer the affairs of the office in a commendable manner."

"I want the citizens of Jacksonville to understand that I have been selected by no political boss or machine. I will be responsible to no select group of politicians, but only to the citizens whom I seek to serve as mayor. I believe that the people of this city should run their own city government and I prove to you that they have that opportunity."

Candidates Talk

Candidates for alderman from the various wards were next presented to the audience. They were Ralph Green and John Baptist, candidates from the first ward. W. H. Cocking and Ben Denny, candidates from the second ward, and Randolph Little from the third ward. Franklin Matheson, the other Republican candidate from the third ward, was out of the city. City Attorney Orville Foreman spoke in his behalf.

George Brown and Nathan M. and Friday night at Lafayette school.

HUGE PETITION FILED FOR VOTE ON CITY PLANT

Nearly Two Thousand Persons Ask For Vote On Proposal

A voluminous petition bearing 1,945 names of residents of Jacksonville was filed yesterday afternoon in the office of City Clerk John R. Phillips, for the purpose of bringing the proposed water plant improvement in Jacksonville to a vote. The petition, composed of 33 individual petitions, was filed by Attorney R. E. Harmon.

Thirty-three citizens have carried the petition about among voters for several days. The number of signatures is nearly 500 more than is required by law to place the question of the proposed improvement before the voters at an election. The ordinance authorizing construction of improvements at the city pumping plant and a bond issue of $150,000 to pay the bill, was passed by the city council March 18.

Twenty-one days were allowed for citizens to file a petition asking that the matter be submitted to a vote of the people. The filing of the petition will bring the question to a vote, unless the council decides to repeal the ordinance.

The petition was prepared and circulated after the council disregarded a report of a citizens' committee, which recommended that the proposed improvements could be made at a considerable saving under the $150,000 bond issue. Those promoting the petition let it be known that they were not opposing improvement in the city water plant, but were desirous that the matter should be more thoroughly investigated and that people should have an opportunity to vote on it.

Both candidates for mayor in the coming municipal election, Henry G. Meyer, Democrat, and Fletcher J. Blackburn, Republican, have indicated that they are in favor of submitting the question of rehabilitation of the water plant to a vote of the people. Both believe there is no question but that improvements are needed, but that the people should say how much money shall be spent on the project.

Board of Education Hears Favorable Report at Meeting

Presenting one of the most favorable reports in the last few years, Dr. R. O. Stoops of the Jacksonville schools last night told the board of education that the school district had received more money than was anticipated from the state. Dr. Stoops' report preceded a report by the chairman of the building committee and teachers committee.

TO CELEBRATE 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn Plan Observance For Next Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on April 14. John Flynn and Elizabeth Duffner were married in the Church of Our Saviour, Jacksonville by the Rev. Timothy Hickey on April 14, 1885. Their attendants were Jerry Flynn and Mrs. Teresa Walsh who are to be with them again at this time.

Their children, all of whom expect to be at the home for this happy occasion are Frank J. Flynn, Mrs. M. F. Walsh and Mrs. J. T. Lawless of Woodstock, Mrs. Charles M. Ryan of Jacksonville, Sr. M. Edmund, O. P. of Denver, Colo., St. Maureen, O. P. of Springfield, E. J. Flynn of Chicago, Mrs. E. F. Murphy of Detroit, Michigan, and Louise Flynn at home.

One daughter died in infancy and another, Mrs. M. G. Ryan of Alton died in May 1927.

Mr. Flynn has always been engaged in farming and stock raising. Mrs. Flynn, before her marriage was a teacher in the public schools of the county.

Mr. Flynn is 80 years old, his wife is 71. They have resided for the past 43 years, at their present home at Clements Station.

With their children and twenty-two grandchildren, they expect to attend mass at St. Bartholomew's church in Murrayville at 7:00 o'clock Sunday morning with Rev. D. F. Lydon as celebrant, after which they will return to the family home where a dinner will be served to the immediate family and relatives.

No invitations have been issued, but friends will be welcomed at an informal reception at the Flynn home between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

HIGH SCHOOL TO GIVE OPERETTA

"The Sunbonnet Girl" to Be Presented April 12 At Chapin

"The Sunbonnet Girl" an operetta with a rural setting will be presented by the Chapin High school at the grade school auditorium on April 12, at 8 o'clock.

The comic operetta presents many laughs. The costumes and scenery are very colorful and the love scenes very dramatic.

A music contest is being held for the young people and Sunbonnet Sue wishes to enter but her guardian refuses to allow her to do so.

Rising to a crisis the plot moves on to a colorful and happy finale.

The cast is as follows:

URGE ELECTION OF DEMOCRATS AT MEET HERE

Principles Of Party Lauded At First Ward Meeting Last Night

With John W. Merrigan, a former alderman, presiding as chairman, and Rev. D. C. Byus as the principal speaker, a Democratic rally was held last night at the Jefferson school building in interest of Henry G. Meyer for mayor, and other candidates on the Democratic ticket. The meeting was largely attended by First ward citizens.

Mr. Merrigan, who served as an alderman during the administrations of former Mayors Charles Widmayer and John R. Davis, gave his unqualified endorsement to Mr. Meyer and other Democratic candidates. Likewise, Rev. Mr. Byus, who placed second in a five man race in the primary election, pledged support to the nominee, Mr. Meyer, and delivered a forceful address in his behalf.

Speaking of the Democratic party in general, Rev. Byus declared that Americans must hold fast to the leadership it affords them or "go back to things much worse in the past."

He said the fundamental principles of the Democratic party are right, and that American voters are coming to realize this fact more fully as the years go by.

"I feel it my duty to help elect Henry G. Meyer mayor of this city," Rev. Byus said. "It was the will of the people that gave him the nomination and I am a believer in Democracy. For that reason I am heart and soul in this campaign for the Democratic candidates."

Rev. Byus said he is glad to know that one of Mr. Meyer's platform planks is to improve the dirt streets of the city. This was one of Rev. Byus' pledges to the voters, and as it comes from the lips of another candidate he is equally as strong for it. He said he knows that Mr. Meyer will use his greatest influence and wisdom to provide the city with an all-weather system of streets beyond the pavements.

Lauds Democracy

Chairman Merrigan lauded the principles of Democracy and the way they are being amplified by the officials now in charge of the government. A word of praise for President Roosevelt, for Governor Henry Horner, and a hope that the Democratic candidates for city offices will be given opportunity to serve their community were uttered by Mr. Merrigan.

"They are a clean bunch of men," Mr. Merrigan said. "They represent a party that is headed by the great Roosevelt, a man whose name will live for ages. They represent the American people who are striving for better government, whether it be in nation, state or city."

When Mr. Meyer was introduced he was tendered a stirring ovation by the first ward citizens. He spoke briefly on what he expects to do if elected next Tuesday.

Paying particular attention to the matter of streets, Mr. Meyer said: "I propose to oil every dirt street where the traffic needs warrant, without any extra assessments being levied against the abutting property owners. In making this statement I have had an accurate estimate made and I am assured this can be done and still keep within our income."

"I further propose to lay out a program whereby each year a certain amount of dirt streets can be covered with a low cost surface, meeting the traffic requirements of that street. By an efficient use of relief labor available to the city, this program can be carried out more economically. I intend, of course, to maintain our present paved streets, but I also intend to work toward having all the dirt streets surfaced with some type of material as soon as possible."

Reiterates Pledge

Mr. Meyer discussed the necessity of placing highly qualified men in city positions. He reiterated his pledge to conduct the city in an economic manner concurrent with the times. He does not believe that this is a time in which to carry out improvements which would prove a burden to property owners and taxpayers.

Jewell E. Scott, who served two terms as city clerk, was introduced as the Democratic candidate for city treasurer. John Phillips, present city clerk and a candidate for reelection, also was presented to the audience.

John Early, first ward candidate for alderman, was introduced by Robert McGownd, the other first ward aldermanic candidate, was not present on the platform.

Mrs. Henry W. English addressed the audience on the value of electing highly qualified candidates to public office. She cited the Democratic ticket as an example of strong and capable citizens, willing to serve their community in an efficient manner.

Entertainment at the rally was furnished by Booker Miller, soloist; Thomas McQuitty, pianist and George Grisby, tap-dancer. Miller sang "Old Black Joe" in costume.

R. J. SHEPPARD PASSES AWAY HERE TUESDAY

Well Known Jacksonville Man Victim Of Pneumonia; Rites Thursday

Richard Johnson Sheppard, laundryman superintendent at the Jacksonville State hospital, passed away Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock after a brief illness. Mr. Sheppard had been ill but three days, his illness being attributed to pneumonia. His death will come as a distinct shock to his many friends since only a few were aware of the seriousness of his illness.

He was born near Murrayville, October 14, 1888, the son of McClelland and Lida Parker Sheppard. He was married to Rosella Keil on February 22, 1912, and Mrs. Sheppard and one daughter, Mildred survive. He also leaves his parents and one sister, Mrs. C. E. Loneragan.

Following Mr. Sheppard's marriage he resided on a farm east of Woodson until eight years ago, when he moved to Jacksonville. At the time of his death he was laundryman superintendent at the state hospital.

He was a member of the Central Christian church, and was affiliated with Lodge No. 570, A. F. & A. M., the Odd Fellows lodge, the M. W. A. lodge of Woodson and the C. O. S. Rebekah lodge, No. 625, of this city.

Mr. Sheppard was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Thru his exemplary life, his willingness to aid his neighbors and his interest in the community in which he resided he gained many friends who will be sorry to learn of his death. His devotion to his home was especially noted.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Williamson Funeral Home with burial in Diamond Grove cemetery. The body will be moved to the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

HERMAN MEYER DIES SUDDENLY HERE TUESDAY

Alexander Farmer Is Victim Of Heart Attack; Rites To Be Thursday

Herman H. Meyer, prominent farmer of the Alexander community, passed away suddenly Tuesday afternoon, at the Charles Strommatt grocery store on South Mauvaster street, death being attributed to a heart attack. Mr. Meyer collapsed while talking with his brother, Adolph Meyer and brother-in-law, Jesse Crawford. Dr. G. E. Drennan was called but Mr. Meyer had passed away before his arrival. The decedent had been in ill health since the first of last December.

Mr. Meyer was born near Orleans, November 10, 1867, the oldest son of Edward and Katherine Meyer. He is survived by his wife, formerly Mabel Lucille Cox of this city, to whom he was united in marriage January 10, 1911, and a daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Mount B. Crabbe of this city.

He also leaves five brothers, Frank, Adolph, Albert and Theodore of the New Berlin community and Henry of Harlingen, Texas, and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Herr and Mrs. Minnie Crawford of New Berlin.

Mr. Meyer had resided on the Old State road just over the Sangamon county line for the past 22 years. He will be missed by a host of friends.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at Centenary M. E. church. Burial will be in Jacksonville cemetery. The body is at the Williamson Funeral Home.
